

Product Search Ranking

Product search ranks results by relevance to the query and the shopper's context .

Exact matches on product codes rank above fuzzy matches. Queries containing a size or color facet trigger a filtered search rather than a free-text interpretation.

The ranking pipeline reranks a bounded candidate set. The reranker never expands the candidate set, and every result carries the rule that produced its score.